The regents of the university of Wisconsin are making an effort to secure the to enable the establishment of an agricultural station and a chair of pharmacy and materia medica at the state universi'y. A dispatch from Madison says that much interest is felt in the bill as it is believed that by creating such a chair in the State university the business of druggists in this state shall be much improved. It is said that there are sent to various colleges out of the state annually about twenty Wisconsin students. It is proposed to educate them in Wisconsin, and at the same time, by locating the institution at home, others may be enabled to share in its privileges.

By a general agreement among the members of the assembly, the following appropriations to agricultural societies will be made this session of the legisla-

Wisconsin state agricultural society (for liquidating debt). $1,480.00 Wisconsin state agricultural society (for 1933 and 1881). 4,000.00 Northern Wisconsin agricultural and mechanical (for 1833 and 1884). 2,000.00 Northern Wisconsin agricultural and mechanical (for 1833 and 1841). 1,000.00 Southouseen agricultural society (for 1833 and 1884). 800.00 Central agricultural society (for 1833 and 1834). 800.00 Three other societies have also asked for appropriations and small archaeld agricultural society (for 1833 and 1834).

for appropriations, and will probably get the following sums:

Wisconsin state horticultural society
(for 1873 and 1894)
Wisconsin sheepbreedors and woolgrowers association (printing reports).

Wisconsin dairymen's association (for 1883 and 1894).

By a decision of a cancus which had all these bills under consideration, the state agricultural society will be relieved from all indebtedness.

IRREPRESSIBLE PLUCK.

In the plentitude of Mr. P. T. Barnum's weulth and experience, he proposes to have the greates; show on earth this season, compared with which all others heretofore bearing that name pale into insignificance. He has been trying to find a white elephant which he intended should be the capstone of the attraction, but he has failed. The wilds of India cannot yield him one, and the zoological gardens of this country know nothing about them. To Mr. Barnum this is a great disappointment. He  $\mathbf{made}$ up his mind that the "greatest show on earth" should this year have a greater curiosity, than Oscar Wilde could possibly be, and he had his heart set on a white elephant; but living there is none, but as Mr. Barnum's resources of ingenuity and enterprise were never known to fail, it is very probable that he will get one made What the zoological kingdom can not do for Mr. Barnum, mechanics possibly can, Mr. Barnum has caused the news to be sent all over the country that he has 100 cars already made, each 65" feet long, in which will be carried the greatest show on earth. These 100 cars are over a mile long. The tents will cover eight acres and hold 21,000 people.

This man Barnum is one of the oddest products of this surprising country. He is now seventy-three, and is full of ambition. Two years ago sickness made him take to his bed; and life seemed to hang ou such a slender thread, that he penitently asked for the prayers of all praying people and caused a card to be published to that effect. But with renewed

THE SIMEON MILLS CLAIM.

A bill for the relief of Simeon Mills, which has been before the legislature for several years, more or less, has passed the senate by a vote of 22 to 8. It will be remembered that when Mr. Mills was treasurer of the state hospital for the insone, drew ten thousand dollars from the funds of that institution and deposited the amount on his own account in the old state bank at Madison-This bank had the misfortune to break while it held the ten thousand dollars belonging to the state.

In law, of course, Mr. Mills was liable to the state for the amount, but he did' not think he should be held responsible | Elliott Finally Receives Two Fatal for the money, and not long after the bank failed his friends appealed to A few cold facts and some stubborn figthe legislature for relief. But up to this time all the bills had been defeated for the reason that the legislature did not see why the state should lose ten thousand dollars because Mr. Mills' bank had failed in which he had deposited the money as his own. Ex-Senator Hum. Richardson fought mese bills for several sessions, and with others' succeeded in defeating them for a season; but a bill belonging to any one who lives in Madison, like a cat, has nine lives, and this year it was again introduced and has gone through the senate

The courts decided against Mr. Mills, holding that he was personally responsible, but he and his friends renewed their faith at the beginning of each session of the legislature, until they have the relief bill half way through. The only claim that Mr. Mills can make for relief, is that the state can better afford to lose the ten thousand dollars than he can, and as far as dollars and cents are concorned this is true, but common justice would dictate that the state ought

A BILL WITH A BAD SPIRIT.

There is a bill before the legislature, which has already been mentioned in the Gazette, which provides that the contractors of the state prison labor at Waupunshould brand all goods made by them as' "Made by prison labor." This bill was. introduced in the assembly passage of a bill for an increase of income by Mr. Walsh, of Milwaukee, and doubtless, as has been before suggested in these columns, was framed by some supporter of the trades union. This bill should be defeated, and we believe there is too much good sense in the legislature to permit it to become a law. There is a prejudice by some members of the trades union against the products of the convict labor because they imagine that it conflicts with their interests, and therefore to throw as much odium as possible upon the goods made within the walls of the prison, they ask the legislature to put the mark of Cain, upon it. These goods, the boots and shoes in particular, manufactured under the contrect of D. M. Wells & Co., of Chicago, are as good as any made by firms outside of the state prison, and in competing for a market it is nobody's business whether they were made by convict labor or by regularly employed hands. If the articles are honest, well-made and worth the money; that is all that interests the public. But this is not all. The state of Wisconsin has leased its convict labor to M. D. Wells & Co., and it is bound to protect as much as it can, the interests of that firm. To enact a law which shall tell the world that certain boots and shoes are made by men and boys under sentence for orimes committed, would be a breach of faith which would disgrace the state, and dishonor the legislature. The working people do not their rights or their wages. The leadors of the trades union are the ones that ask the legislature to put what these mon would regard, the mark of condemnation was the first inner the two men have met since the union are the ones that ask the legislature to put what these mon would regard, the mark of condemnation was the maxwest condemnation was the engislature to put what these mon would regard, the mark of condemnation was the first since the two men have met since the number. Indianapolis, March 2.-To off set the threatened defeat of the metropolitan police bill by the Republicans, the house Democrats yesterday reconsidered the vote by which the general appropriation bill" was passed, and then roused to concur in the smondments made by the conference committee. It is probable that Governor Portor will return the police bill early enough Monday to allow it to be passed over his voto. The proceedings in the legislature aside from this, were unoventful.

Mr. Sutton's bill for collecting penalties and forfeitures of negligent officials was passed; also a state university tax of one-half of 1 per cent. was authorized.

In the United States alone a capital of $20,000,000 is invested in this business, and gunny lungs have become an important article of export. A menting of manufacturers has been held at the Down-Town club to discuss the situation. The general soutiment of those present was that the factories should be closed until prices were forced upward.

Jim Elliott, the Noted Pugilist, Killed by Jerry Dunn, One of His Kind.

A Desperate and Fatal Encounter Between the Men in a Chicago Resort.

Indiscriminate Firing with Revolvers and a Hand-to-Hand Fight.

Charges and Immediately Expires.

THE TRAGEDY.

CHICAGO, March 2. Jerry Dunn, a "sporting" character, shot and killed Jimmy Elliot, the prize-fighter, at 8:15 o'clock last night, in this city. For the second time within five hours, the hybrid fraternities denominated under the general heading of "aporting classes" were thrown into convulsions. Grim death had ontered the ranks and violently snatched away two of the members, one by a fear-ful accident, the other by the hands of his follow-man. On all the corners, in all the saloons, in the gambling bouses and restaurants, men were speaking of the death of George Hols the veteran gambler, who was killed instantly yesterday afternoon by a bex containing a quarter of a ton of coal falling upon him, when the news came that Jerry Dunn had killed Jimmy Elliott. The tidings spread like wildfire, and though all who knew the mon had expected a shooting affair between them, the surprise, even constornation, was great whom it did come. Crowde gathered and exchanged viors Some were glad, and others-the large majority. -were sorry. Immediately a thousand different versions of the affray were scattered about, until even the most astate detective would have been puzzled to determine the facts. As soon as the scone of shooting was learned, it became thronged with the anxious and curious. All the sporting men knew where "Appotte Bill" kept the now Tivoli, on west side of Dearborn street near Washington. They had dined, wined and caroused there often. The place was appropriate for a difficulty between men who be longed to the class that supported it, but here tofore it had borne the -- reputation of being a rather peaceable rendezvous. preliminary facts, or rather the immediate causes of the shooting are soon told, and are known to thou sands. Both men were reputed to be desporate characters. Elliott was a prize-fighter, living by his ability to brutally whip other men, and Dunn had already killed his man, and through other havless and vicious acts secured for himself a reputation on the criminal calendar. An encounter between two such characters after weeks of accumulating hatred could not be otherwise than bloody. Each man had determined that I death alone could repair the injury the other had done him. Each had stigmatized the other with the most opprobrious epithets. Dunn had called Elliott a our," and Elliott retaliated by revilling Dunn in uncitated terms. The hatred dated some time back, having been incepted by statements made in an interview with Dunn, after failure of Elliott and Sullivan to meet in the sparring match, which was to have been given in McCormick's hall. Dunn was the originator of the match, and was bucking Sullivan. He claimed that through Elliott's cowardice the fight did not come off. Later, when Harry Hill, of New York, was soon told, and are known to thousands Elliott wontaway and returned last Tuesday. So far as any one soone to know, last evening was the first time the two men have met since the rupture. How this meeting was brought about is rather mysterious, beta belief seemed to exist in certain quarters last night that Dunn went to the resort with the averved purpose of killing the puglist. Dunn had been drinking considerably, and went to supper. Immediately after supper he enters Langdon's, meets Elliott waiting for his supper, and without a word a pistol is, fired, a short scuffle ensues, and one of them is killed.

THE DEATH STRUGGLE

THE DEATH STRUGGLE.

The shooting occurred at S:15 o'clock in "Bills" Langdon's (better known as "Appetito Bills") Langdon's (better known as Calhoun place, between Madison and Washington streets. Who fired the first shot is alloged to be doubtful but the preponderance of the testimony proves that Dunn took the initiatory. All the evidence shows that Dunn entored the restaurant some time after Eillott, who was soated at a table waiting for supper, in company with Fred Plaisted, the carsman Dunn had boen drinking: all the afternoon, and was somewhat affected" by his potations. At Clayton's, on! Madison street, he had indulged freely in champagne until a little after 7 o'clock, when he walked into the English chop-house kept by James Boyle, on! Celhoun place, near Dearborn street. Immediately after supper he walked over to Langdon's, and without saying anything to anyone entered the rear dining-room where Elliott and Plaisted wore soated awaiting supper. A moment afterward a pistol shot was fired, and confusion followed. There were at least a dozen persons at support in the room, three or four of them women. After the first shot, which was undoubtedly fired by Dunn, Elliott imped up and setzing his chair struck at his antagonist. In descending the chair caught the glass globes over the gas-fixures, shattering them to year again, Dunn backing toward the bar-room entrance into the restaurant with Elliott grasping him. Plaisted ran up and caught the two, but was threat saide by the grappling giants in a death struggle. Once more they went down, this time within about eight feet of the bar-room door. Elliott was ou top, and bang! bang! went the pissol shots. The women were screeming, and men secreted themselves behind tables, boxes, and anything that offered the elightest protection. A sesond time the combatants regained their feet, and fought down toward the centre of the room away from the saloon. Both were firing then, but Elliott seemed to be sinking. It was a horrible sight—these two poworful men armed with deadly weapons, with murder in their hearts, seeking by all means in their power to slay each other. Not a word was said. The scattering of chairs, the hoarse broathing and occasional muttered curses of Dunn and Elliott, the frightened whispers of the spectators and suppressed screams of the women, and, shove all, the quick: succession of pistol shots combined to make a fearful scene. The death struggle was soon over. Elliott had received two deadly wounds, and, exhausted from the internal flow of his life's blood, he fell to the floor between the second and third tables in the front room. He was fighting even in death, and dragged Dunn down with him. There the men lay, Dunn on top of his fast-dying antagonist, until the policeman came. He was taken up and marched over, at his own request, to Clayton's Elliott romained on the floor, the death-damp on his brow and speechless. Fred Plaisted hurried to his side, and asked him if he was a Cathohe. He answered yes, and begged them to go for a priest. A servant girl was sent for a priest, and during her absence, he again whispered a request for a minister, then asked Plaisted to put his overceat under his head. He said no more, but turned on his side, and in twenty minutes was a dead man. fought down toward the centre of the room

THE DEADLY FUSILADE.

How many shots were fired none of the spec-tators seem to know, but variously estimated the number at between six and nine. Whether How many shoes were fired none of as spectators seem to know, but variously estimated the number at between six and nine. Whether Elliott had a pistol or not no one would say, but no one saw him with one until after the second fall near the bar-room door, when he was on top of Dunn. According to the statement of Charles Doal, the cashier. Dunn then drow a second pistol. Elliott must have received his death at this time, for he immediately, for the first time, was correpowered by his antagonist. It was about this time, too, that the cashier's deak was struck by one of the bullets. Elliott remained on the floor for about fifteen minutes, lying on his side nearly all of the time, a crowd standing around. The saloon rapidly filled and men were anxiously discussing the matter, but few displayed much interest in the scrong man whose life was ebbing away so fast. The patrol-wagon drove up to the door and the men came in with the stretcher.

"Turn over Jimmy," said some one, and Plaisted with one-of the policemen turned him over. For three or four seconds he laid on his back in his blue flannel shirt, opened at the neck to permit of frees breathing. Death had already standled its victim. His face was pale, not a sign of the warm blood which had coursed through the voins a few moments before. The eyes were closed and the hueless lips lightly drawn. A sear on the left side of the face under the ness, running to the upper lip, gave a ghastlier look to the feature. Those who saw him then said with one accord:

"Jimmy Elliott is a dead man."

They placed him on a stretcher and bore him out into the street and into the patrol wagen.

"Drive to the hospital."

him out into the street and into the patrol wagon.

"Drive to the hospital."

Fred. Plaisted catered the wagon with his dying friend, intending to accompany him to the hospital. They had driven only a few blocks when it was discovered that their charge was hiteless. There was no necessity to take him to the hospital. He was beyond surgeon's aid, and the dead prize-fighter was convoyed to the morgue.

After being arrested, Dunn asked permission to go into Claytop's to wash. He was granted the favor, and in company with the officer and one or two others entered Clayton's and walked back. In passing Walt Williams, Clayton's partner, he remarked:

"Woll, I guess if's all over."

He went back to the lavatory, washed the blood from his hands and face, and re-entered the bar. He spoke to the colored bar-keeper, George Gross, and ordered a bottle of wine. In the meantime "Bob" McCall had gone in search of a doctor to dress Dunn's wounds, but after the wine was drauk the officer insisted that they must go to the station. Dunn was taken to the armopy and locked up on the charge of murder.

It is believed by the police that the assertion that Elliott had no revolver can be proven true. They are not at all backward in expressing a bollef that the killing was cold-blooded murder. A high police official said to a reporter last night: "I tell you there's no doubt in my mind that it was foul murder. The gang intond to combine to make it out that Elliott was the aggressor, and it looks to me as though it is going to be a job put up to secure the rolease of Dunn. There's no telling what these sporting men will do, but you can be that they will stick to their friends to the last."

DUNN'S STORY.

A reporter saw Dunn at his cell in the Harrison attest station and asked him how the shooting occurred.

"It grow out of the trouble which occurred between us several weeks ago," said Dunn. "I wanted no fuss with Elliott and said to a reporter at the time that his walks and mine lay in different directions and that there was no need of our over meeting but he seemed to think otherwise."

him into a row with Cronin, the song-anddance man, so you could get the drop on him?"

"Oh, that was all bosh, and not a word of truth in it. I never tried to provoke a quarrol with Eliott in myslife, and he knew it was false when he said I did. I can tell you," he said,
"this matter was something I've been looking for the past three weeks. "That man has been for the past three weeks. That man has been laying for me for that length of time, and I know that one night he hid behind a door at Clayton's for three hours, waiting for a chance he shoot me when I was unprepared and defeneloss. Fortiately I did not go through the door, and Elliott came very near shooting another man who somewhat resembled me. I couldn't deal will such a man as I would with a fair man, and made up my mind that I would shoot him as I would a rabid dog if he over made any aftempt to kill me. I was prepared for him, and he couldn't catch me nappeng unless he got a very close drop on me. I was taking suppor in the restaurant, and know nothing of the danger I was in. I didn't oven know that Diliot-was in the place until I heard a shot and felt a thud and a pain as though I had been struck on the head with a broad ax."
"Was Elliot facing you when he shot, or did he shoot from bohind?"
"For the life of me I couldn't tell whether he was behind or in front of me. It might have been either, as the ball entered the scalp and

I then jumped up and resied back, and it was my feeling that saved my life, for he fired again, and I threw up my arm, which received the bullet intended for my head. I then pulled my gun and we began thing. I don't know how many shots I fired, but I shot for his head. He struck me a terrible blow on the forehead with the muzzle of his revolver—I think though, it may have been the but—and raised a protty nice-sized lump, as you can see. "Yos, and said out at the morgue."

"Yos, and said out at the morgue."

"You know that he is dead?"

"Yos, and laid out at the morgue."

"Wolt; it won't do him any hurt. I'd rather it would be he than I, and I'd rather be in joil than in the morgue."

"Entirely so. Had I done any other way than I did it would have heen I instead of Ellictt that would belying in the morgue. Had I not shrank or reeled back I would have had a ball through my brain. As it is, I am alive, und one live man is worth a dozen doad coss, any day. I hope you fellows will go easy on me tomorrow morning and let me down as lightly as possible, because I was certainly justified in taking a life in preservation of my own."

WASHINGTON

Mahone and McDill to Serve as Conferrees in Place of Bayard and Beck.

The River and Harbor Bill Passes. the House-The Senate.

Cost of the Star-Route Trial---Other Capitol Notes.

THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE. Washington, March 2.—Messrs. Beck and Bayard reported to the senate yesterday morning their reasons for withdrawing from the conference, and they were excused without any trouble. They did not give exactly the same grounds for their refusal to go on, but their general objection to the conference was substantially the same. Mr. Morrill insisted that the conference was delightfully full and free. He had had a very refreshing season in the conference, and he deaply, regretted that his Democratic brothron rerefused to enjoy its privileges. The chair successively tried Voorhees and McPherson, Morgan and Gorman, H. G. Davis and Jonas, and Butler and Maxey. With one consent they all began to make excuses. Finally the wearied chair expressed a desire to know if the Democrats in general refused to participate in the conference, and Mr. Harris assured him that he would be safe in assuming such to be the fact. The chair then tried to fill the job, but did not succeed much better. Mr. Mahone consented to serve, but Mr. Iugalls declined. Mr. Millor, of California, also refused to serve, but Mr. McDill was induced to accept. Although the committee was unanimously in favor of a high tariff, it is not unanimous as to how high the tariff should bo, and consequently it has not made so rapid progress as it seemed at the ourset that it might. and consequently it has not made so rapid progress as it seemed at the outset that it might. The iron interest represented by Shorman and Kelley, was unwilling to make any concession. On the other hand, and Adrich, is resolutely opposed to allowing the iron and steel men to dictate the whole thing. This has caused some controversy in the committee. A member of the committee who ventured outside late, in the afternoon, was captured, and it was extracted from him that the conference was not raising duties much. Iron ore has been raised some. Mahone, who is a member of the committee, by the way, is the man, who wanted a duty of $2 s. ton ou ore. Steel and iron rails of all kinds have been raised. 1-10 of 1 cent a pound—7-10 of 1 cent being raised to 8-10, and 8-10 to 9-10.

The unexpressed but generally understood purpose of the conference committee on the revenue and tariff bill is to get their report bafore the senate before the Senate conference can be considered. There is a feeling that this resolution will be adopted and terminate the conference.

can be considered. There is a feeling that this resolution will be adopted and terminate the conference. The Democratic senators are in very bad humor with regard to the conference committee procedings, and their expressions of anger were frequent and deep throughout the day. If, the bill is materially changed and the conference committee refraese-to-make modifications, it, is about certain that they will take the responsibility of talking the bill to death. Some of the house Democrate said that it would not be surprising if, when the conference reports were made, the Kasson-rule would be rescinded and the bill, being before the house, would be conmade, the Rasson more would be resembled and the bill, being before the house, would be concurred in just as it came from the senate. The conference committee adjourned about midnight without any conclusion, and with the senate still in session. There are a dezen points on which issue has been joined by the readerst and the extreme protectionists. Ali points on which issue has been joined by the moderate and the extreme protectionists. Aldrich and Mahone have been adding Carlisle in resisting the domands made by Shorman, Morrill, Kelley, Huskell, McKinley, and Speer, Shorman and McKinley were beaten in their attempt to raise the wool duty, and the very small advance on nails that they secured is very unsatisfactory to Shorman and Kelley.

COST OF THE STAR-ROUTE TRIAL. The statement that Col. George Bliss is gotting $100 a day for his services as government counsel in the star-route case does an injustice to his legal; talenta. The charges of all those special attorneys in the star-route cases are likely to be aired in the senate-to-day and to-morrow, and they will make the taxpayand to-morrow, and they will make the taxpay-ers of this country regret that the claims of these gentlemen were referred to the board that andited the bills of the doctors who at tended President Garfield. Bliss probably does get an average of $100 a day, taking the time he is not in court, but there is good authority for saying that Bliss got $15,000 and a lot of hotel bills, and other expenses for the first starroute, trial, which lasted 108 days, including Sundays. This runs his pay up to above $101 for every week day, and the government paid, hotel bills for him at the rate of $10 a day; and traveling expenses to and from New York, etc. He has had several thousand dollars since the first trial closed. Merrick get about the same amount for the first trial. Ker had to puttup with a potty $5,000 for the first trial, but he drew several thousand dellars before and since, and has extracted $17,000 or $18,000 from the government within twelve, months. The people may well say of the star-route knavery that the councily is worse than the disease. ers of this country regret that the claims o

DAVID DAVIS. Senator David Davis who has given formal notice of his intention to resign as president of the senate to-morrow, will vote for senator Edmunds to succeed him. He may offer the resolution. It will have the support of the Republicana. In addition to Senator Davis, the support of Senator Book, Garlson, and polars ofter Democrate is expected. Nothing will be done about the sonate offices. The present incombents will held over till December, unless there should be an extra session of the senate. This is the programme which will be carried out unless something unexpected ecours to change it. occurs to change it. 🕒

BRAGG AND PORTER.

BRAGG AND PORTER.

Gon. Dragg, of Wisconsin, who served with great distinction in the army of the Potomac, and commanded the Fron brigade at the second buttle of Bull Run, has prepared a strong speech in flavor of the restoration of Fitz John Portor, as provided by the bill which passed the senate some time ago. As the bill will not be reached by the house, Gon. Bragg's speech will be printed in The Record to-morrow.

FAIR. FAIR.

Fair, of Nevada, the great absentee, appeared in the senate to-day. He had some some paper to present. He said: "Mr. Prosident." Senator Davis replied: The senator from — and then stopped. He couldn't quite place him. "From Nevada," chirped in Fair himself.

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

Silas W. Burt, naval officer of the port of New York, will be nominated chief examiner of the United States civil-service community.

SENATE WORK.

The senate epent most of the day on the sun-The sounte spent most of the day on the sundry civil bill. Two items provoked debate. One was a proposition to appropriate $421,-658.68 to pay what are known as the old settlers Cherokees chaims. Although the Cherokees found an elequent orator in Sounter Logan the sounte struck out the appropriations, but the senator gave notice of an amendment to allow the Cherokees to take their case to the court of the cherokees to take their case to the court of the Cherokees to take their case to the court of claims. By, treaty, the Cherokees were to be moved west of the Mississippi at government expense. In the case of a lot of the earliest to move, their expenses were deducted from the amount they were entitled to for the lands then surrendered. For more than thirty-years they have been trying to get the facts through the heads of the treasury officials and, having at last succeeded, they have for eight years had last succeeded, they have for eight years had that claim in congress. Noted, canied the rights of the Cherokaes, but some thought the amount had not been cloudy established. The amount, by the way jaywithout interest since 1801. As in the case of the Japanese indemnity, the senate is showing a communistic Jistposition to regard interest as robbery. Other senators thought that this bill was not the place for this prevision. In fact the debate justified Sonator Logan in saying that an house telaim could not be got through the sonate, not because of corruption, but because of apathy. The custom of the senators to reject a claim for multy or rorry years occause it has not been sufficiently investigated, and thereafter to reject it because it is stale.

In the Yellowstone park matter the senate showed a disposition to give the park protection, and narrowly circumscribed, the privileges to be granted to any hotel people.

THE HOUSE It is quite probable that the river and harbor

It is quifo probable that the river and harbor bill will never got to the president. The representatives of the Mississippi valley, backed by a majority of the Domocrats and a minority of the Republicans in the house, successfully resisted the efforts of Burrows, of Michigan, Robinson of Massachusetts, and others to incorporate in the bill a provision that no part of the money appropriated for the Mississippi river shall be used for the construction of levese accopt to carry out contracts already made. There was a warm debate on this amendment Messrs. Burrows and Robinson were disgusted and disappointed when they found that a majority of the house were in favor of leaving the whole question of improving the Mississippi to the judgment of the commission upon the plan herefolore approved by congress, which contemplates the construction of leves as an adjunct to the mission upon the plan horocolors approved by congress, which contemplates the construction of lovoes as an adjunct to the jetty plan for contracting the channel so as to secure the securing effect of the increased volcity of the water. Strong speeches were made in support of the Mississippi river commission by Mesers. Thomas, of Illinois, and Gibson and Ellis, of Louisiana, and the Burrare compiltee was placed in a very unfavor. Gibson and Ellis, of Louisiana, and the Burrows committee was placed in a very unfavorable light in comparison with that commission of engineers. The Louisian and Arkansas members effered to insert a clause prohibiting the use of any money for building lovees solely for the purpose of protecting private lands, but Mr. Robinson said that would be useless, because the commission would be intenenced by land proprietors along the lower river. He would have an absolute would be incless, because the commission would be incluenced by land proprietors along ithe lower river. He would have an absolute prohibition of levee building or none. He got none. A proposition to authorize the appointment of a commission of engineers to report upon the practicability of the outlet scheme, for which Capt. Camden and others have been lobbying here for two years or more, received very little support. After the defeat of his committee, Mr. Burrows formally announced that he would not vote for the river and harbor bill, and a few moments later he voted with a small minority to strike out the outlier appropriation for the Mississippi below Cairo. The annount of this appropriation as agreed to is $2,150,000, and the whole amount under to be expended under the direction of the accretary of war in accordance with the plans, specifications, and ostimates, and under the supervision of the Mississippi river commission. The appropriation for St. Authony's falls was reduced from $15,000 to $3,000, and finally striken from the bill on motion of Mr. Washburn, of Mindeera Tho bill finally passed the house—yeas, 112; anys, 90.

INS AND OUTS.

A Theory of the Washington Situation in Regard to the Tariff.

CINCINNATI, March 2.—A Washington special to The Enquiror says: The dishonesty of politicians is too apparent in the treatment of this important turin bill. The leaders of both parties want the bill to full, but must needs do a good deal of dissombling to make it appear to the people that the effort to pass a bill is honost. This is all bosh. It is a stick full of tar, and both sides want to away withit, but to get in such a position that one can blame it on the other. The reasons Sam Randall, advanced for declining service are a more subtquenced for declining service are a more subtquenced for the service are a more subtquenced for might have been us a conference manager, it would have been as a conference manager, it would have been so as conference manager.

manager, it would have had a bearing on his cauvass for the speakorship. "So, in order to subordinate overything to that, he dodgodia duty which he should have accepted.

The conforced managers held their first meeting to-night Naturally, of course, the first question ruised was the constitutional one of the right of the sands to raise revenue bills. This was raised because the house managers, under their instructions; could denothing else but ruise it, and, of course, for the present there is a dead-lock. The conference committee, as now made, is little better than a hollow mockery. Speer, who takes than a hollow mockery. Speer, who takes Randall's place, 'although calling himself a Democrat, has always deserted the party and gone over to the Republicans when there was a clash between the parties. He is as much an ultra protectionist as is Kelley. Of the committee of ten the protectionists can claim aight votes.

committee or ten the protectionists can daring eight votes.

It is becoming more ovident each day that notitier the Democratic or Republican loaders want a bill passed. The declination of Itanidall, Morrison and Tucker is evidence of this. dall, Morrison and Tucker is evidence of this. Theo, too, the very fact that the senate wants to ignore the constitutional question involved in its right to frame a bill is evidence that there is a desire to divert attention from the main issue. Both political parties want to get into such a position that one can charge the other with the failure of the bill, notiner of them wanting a bill. What is wanted in a congress is a few houest men who can sink political shillations in treating a business subject. It can be reiterated more positively than ever that no tariff bill will be an internal revented. that can be expected will be an internal recondereduction bill, and oven that is growing loss probable each day.

MICHIGAN'S SENATOR.

Thomas W. Palmer Elected on the Eighty-First Ballot.

LANSING, Merch 1.-The senatorial battle is over. Yesterday on the eighty-first ballot Thomas W. Palmer, of Detroit, received 75 votes, and was declared elected. On the preceding ballot Col F. B. Stockbridge had his name withdrawn, and all his support went to Palmer. The final vote stood: Palmer, 75; Stout, 40; Ferry, 2; Champlain, 1, Pierco and van Loo voting for Ferry to the last. The scene was most exciting. Cheer upon cheer was given. Handkerchiefs and hats were thrown into the air, and all known methods resorted to to give air, and all known methods resorted to to give vent to enthusiasm. Everybody appears happy over the conclusion of the the contest. Senator Palmer appeared before the convention and returned thanks. In his remarks of acceptance he said that his first duty would be to his country and then to his state. In this he would know no east, no west, no north, no south. He should ever endeavor to be the senator of the people.

He believed that while men may come and men may go, the great principles of the Republicau party would go on forever to victory and success. Col. Stockbridge also appeared and thanked the convention for their support. He congratulated them, and pronounced himself pleased and satisticd with the result Thomas Wetherell Palmer was born in Detroit, Jan. 25, 1830. He is a graduate of the Michigan university. In 1848 he travoled or foot through Spain and South America. In 1833 he returned to Detroit, and shortly after wort inthrough Spain and South America. In 1833 he returned to Detroit, and shortly after woot into the lumber business which, with the purchas and sale of pine land, has been his avocation since. He was state seemor in 1870-80. He has many friends in the rank and file of the Republican party in this state. He is a brilliant conversationalist and fluent speaker, cultured and refined.

Don Cameron Will Not Resign. New York, March 2 -The Sun says: The report that Senator Don Cameron contemplates resigning his seat in the United States senate to engage in railroading is denied on the very best authority. That counterla health has been bad of late, for which reason he has not been able to participate in the work of framing the tariff bill, in which his state is deeply, interested. A report was circulated deeply, interested. A report was circulated that his recent absence from the sounts was in retaliation, for the vote of Pennsylvania last; fall, and in fullfilment of the alleged threat made by him at the time, that unless the iron men sustained him the vinight as well look to some one clase in the hour of trouble which was at hand. Whether or not Cameron, said this, and he may have done so, his absence from the senate at the time when the iron men needed his services more than ever before was for reasons which bear no relation to last fall'a election.

A Wild Scene in the Night Session of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Page of California, Characterized in Debate as a "Gambler and a Cut-Throat."

Washington, March 2.-An extraordinary scene was precipitated in the house last night by a heated declaration from Mr. Van Voorbis, touching an appropriation for the Sacramento river, that the item was, to use his words, "so outrageone, so damnable, that nobody but a gamblor or a cut-throat would have put it into the bill." These words were a little too much for the house, especially in connection with what Van Voorbishas been saying of Page for a day or two past. Mr. Horr called the speaker to order, and insisted that the words should be taken down and reported to the house. "O no," said Mr. Page with a gesture of contempt "O yes," shouted Mr. Horr and soveral others. So, the house, as in such eases provided, was duly informed of the language to which exception had been taken, and it road protty wickedly. Members flocked in from the cloak-rooms and the galleries, which were packed with people, showed by their flutter of cluterest that the specialors extheir future of the restrict the specialors oxpected a treat. Thursday night he gave the newspapers alcoture for the bad language they used over the river and harbor bill, and last night he found an example of blackguardism nearor home. As son as McLane had made in motion, lliscock and McCook harried up to their New York colleague to help him out of his awkward is. He stood, or rather lounged, in the middle aisle, apparently the most indiffacent man in the house to the exciting seene of which he was the control. He listened to the whispors of his colleagues and then began to laugh and chat with Phil Thioinpson, whose fighting blood was aroused by the crisis, and who at once appoused the cause of the Rothester member as a kind of parliamentary second. Hichotica Robinson also pricked up his cars in ploasurable anticipation of a shindy, and stood ready for a good light. McLane was so outraged by Van Voorlis' language that he did not seem disposed to show the offender the ordinary chance of explanation. But the house was evidently inclined to let him. (Van Voorlis) be heard.

McLane then made a cutting little speech, in the course of which he was himself called to order by Hiscock for a snearing allusion to Van Yoorlis which came close to the parliamentary limits, and thouly the New York member was green the floor to make his excuses, lie spoke and believed quite at his onse, and his remarks evidently mollified the house. He said in effect that he had been very carnent in his opposition to the bill, and, not being an orator, had been colleged, in the confusion, to exert himself to the utmost and the strong terms. He declared that by the offensive words he had intented to characterize the measure and had no feeling against the chairman of the constraint the chairman of the constraint the washing mersonal. no feeling against the chairman of the com-mittee nor had he intended anything personal Mowished to withdraw the words. When order was at last restored the original motion was withdrawa and everybody suppose the fragas was over but Horbort, of Alabana, moved a resolution of censure. This brought the whole matter up again. Herbert sharply arraigned Van Voorhis and wolden to yield to the appeals to withdraw his motion. He thought no apology could excuse such language or shield the speaker the hoconequences. Page himself joined in asking Herbert to withdraw, has he was obdarate and the best that could be done was to move to table the motion. This was lost, however, by a vote of 60 to 82. Yan Voorhis saw the new danger which threatened, and, coming forward, agaif cyplained and apologized, though in a strain which alarmed his friends, and caused Hiscock to tug at his elbow and whisper humility and moderation. Then Kasson came forward with words of peace, and on the final division Herbert's motion was lost by the close vote of 78 to 66. It was a narrow escape, but it was an escape, and Vaa-Voorhis, was again seen, imperturbable as ever, inaking amoudments and throwing all kinds of obstacles in the way of the bill.

THE GAZETTE

"Swallow-tail coats to rent for New Year's calls," was the somewhat novel advertisement of an enterprising firm in yesterday's Globe-Democrat. Indeed, the idea of renting dress suits to be worn on swell occasions seemed so singular and so novel a feature of social economy that a Globe-Democrat reporter thought it worth investigating. "Bloss you, it it worth investigating. "Bloss you, it is not a new idea," said the enterprising dealer. "True, it is rather new in St. Louis, but in New York it has long been the custom. The establishment there, on Crosby street, has made a specialty of it, and built to a big busi-

"Do you find much call for your clothes on such times?" saked the re-

"Dear, yes. We have on hand now about fifty dress coats and vests, and fully half of them are spoken for already for Monday. We don't let anything but coats and vests, and of course we have all sizes and can fit any figure. Those who come first get the first choice. By to-morrow night we don't expect to have a single garment left, and on Monday they'll all be doing duty in fashionable society." "What kind of people hire these garments?" "All kinds that don't happen to own a dress suit, need one, and don't want to or can't afford to buy one. It is really a very sensible custom, odd as it really a very sensible custom, odd as it may seem. There are lots of people who go in society who can't afford to pay seventy-five dollars for a dress suit to be worn only occasionally. Why shouldn't they hire one if they can? Our customers are mostly young men of moderate means. They come here, put up twenty-five dollars deposit, we let them have a suit, and when they return it in as good order as when they got it. it in as good order as when they got it, we return it less the rental, which is three dollars a day."

"When do you find most, demand for the clothes?"

"Well, of course, New Year's is the most active time, but our garments are on the go pretty much all the time. We are constantly fitting out people for dinner-parties, balls, weddings, theaters, and all that. We've already got orders for Nilsson's concerts, which are going to be very swell. Then we fit out young men who have to appear on the stage in full-dress at private theatricals. Nearly all entertainments at the Pickwick theater by amateurs create a demand for our garments."

"Do you supply other clothes besides swallow-tails?" asked the reporter. "Oh, yes. We have walking-suits, Prince Albert coats, light trousers, and other clothes that we hire out. They go mostly, however, to stage people. You don't know how many actors there are here who depend upon us to fit them out in society dramas. You know sometimes an actor in a society play has to appear in half a dozen fashionable suits of an evening. They are nearly always hired for the occasion. But few actors can afford to buy so extensive a wardrobe as they require for the stage, and by renting they can get a greater variety. So they rent and think nothing of it. Oh, this renting clothes is getting to be quite a business, and a profitable one."

"Do you have much trouble fitting people with swallow-tails?"
"No, we have a great many regular customers and we try and give them the same coat every time. Sometimes their garment is out and we have to shin around to fit them, but as a rule they get the same coat. We The coats are all first, class, as you perceive," and the dealer led the way to a large wardrobe where the swallow-tails hung in rows, with their sizes on cards pinned to them. They were mostly of fine cloth, silk-lined and faced, and none of them showed much sign of wear. "These will be out New Year's," said the dealall come back in good order. Do we rent to everybody? No; none but respectable and genteel people can hire these garments. We have a few halfworn coats, a little out of style, that we sometimes let to common people for balls and weddings, and we have also a dozen or so of Prince Albert coats that we keep on hand for funerals, but the most of our trade in this line is with the best of people." Just then a boy handed the gentleman three letters. "Yes, I thought so," said be, glancing over them, "orders for three more for Monday-three old customers," and he turned away to register the orders and lay away the garments.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PITH AND POINT.

-One lawyer in Des Moines, Iowa, has put through 189 divorce cases within a year. The fare to Des Moines is about seven dollars.—Chicago Tribune.

-A. Pennsylvania paper tells of a family which has been poisoned by eating pie containing arsenie. It seems like a work of supererogation to out arsenic into pie. A pie that can not kill a family without the help of arsenic is a very weak pie. indeed.—Burlington Hawkeye. -An African traveler gives a thrilling:

account of a "vegetable vampire"-a tree which envelops a person with its branches and strangles him to death. The nearest approach we have in this country to a vegetable vampire is the "dead beat," who also dives upon others.—Norristown Herald.

-"My mother's awful fickle," said little Edith to Mrs. Smith, who was making a call. "When she saw you coming up the street, she said! There's that horrid Mis' Smith! -An old man would not believe he could hear his wife talk a distance of five miles by telephone. His better half. was in a country store several miles away, where there was a telephone, and the skeptic was also in a place where there was a similar instrument, and, on being told how to operate it, he walked boldly up and shouted, "Hello, Jane!". At that instant lightning struck the telephone-wire and knocked the man down, and as he scrambled to his feet he excitedly cried, "That's Jane every time."—Modern Argo.

... "James, dear, Reginald desires a new sled. I think you had better get him one." "What's a sled good for to him? You've brought him up to stay in the house and look pretty. He wouldn't know what to do with one." "Oh, I don't mean one of those great big out-door sleds. I mean a little house sled that he can play with in the front hall, dear, just to get him accus-tomed to the idea, you know." Lots of little Reginalds are being cultivated indoors, and they will either go to early graves or grow up to be flats.—Boston

—If we must talk about the weather, why not vary the formula, "It is a pleasant day." Every one is tired of admitting that it is. Why not be scientifically accurate when one meets a friend? The following is submitted as a specimen dialogue: Jones—"Ah, Mr. Smith, I see we have cloudy weather with light rains." Smith (with a cheerful smile)—"Yes, and variable winds shifting to colder northeasterly, stationary or higher pressure." Jones—"Quite so; but it is gratifying to know that the rivers will remain nearly stationary and that the temperature has fallen thirty degrees in the Rio Grande Valley. Good-morning, sir."—Boston Advertiser.

Some Carious Marriage Customs.

Among the Kalmucks the bride-race, is reduced to a match, and Dr. Clark: avers that the girls are such good horsewomen that for one to be caught against. her will was a thing unknown. Kal-: macks of high degree, however, do not run their brides down; they bargain for them, and, the bargain concluded, the bridegroom and the chief men of the horde ride to the camp of the bride's people, who feign opposition to the match, and only surrender the lady after a mock conflict. Sometimes the conflict is real enough. If the Kalmuck swain can not find the wherewithal to satisfy the demands of his lady love's parents, or is for any other reason obnoxious to them, he enlists the aid of his kinsmen. who at the earliest chance swoop down on the adverse camp, and, providing they don't get the worst of the fight, carry the prize of their valor to the expectant lover's arms. In Circassia the carrying off of the bride is a prearranged affair, the bride groom and his followers rushing into the bride's house while the wedding revelries are at their height there, and bearing the reluctant damsel off with them. Against such an irruption the Indian Mussulman provides by closing the entrances to the lady's abode, and setting a guard before it to receive the expected assailants. "Who, are you who dare to obstruct the King's cavalcade pri demands the leader of the wife-seizing band. "There are thieves abroad seizing band. "There are thieves abroad at night; possibly we behold them," is the reply. A long interchange of uncomplimentary badinage ensues, terminating in an attempt to break through the ranks of the bride's defenders. Failing in this, the bridegroom pays down a certain sum of money, and the gates are flung open. There is a second contest of strength within the gates, ending, as a matter of course, in the ending, as a matter of course, in the giving up of the maiden, and her depar-ture with the victorious party. The Khords have turned marriage from comedy into farce. Riding one night among the hills an English officer heard loud cries, seemingly proceeding from a village hard by. Making for the spot, he saw a man carrying upon his back something enveloped in scarlet cloth. He was surrounded by twenty or thirty young fellows, who had all they could do to protect him from the desperate assaults of a number of girls

The man had just been married, and was conveying his blooming bride home; and not until he was within the boundaries of his own cottage did his fair pursuers cease hurling stones at him, as he and they ran their hardest. The mock battle forms part of the marriage covemonies of the Kookies, dwelling on the northeast frontier of India; but with them the bride's party has the best of the bout. After the purchasemoney agreed upon has been paid down, the friends of the bride-buyer essay to fetch her in, and get well thrashed for their pains, but the hurlyburly over, the woman is brought out, conducted to the cottage gate and then iven up without any more ado. Among the Garrows of Bengal the respective positions of the parties to the marriage are reversed. It is the gentleman's part to affect unwillingness to enter the bonds of matrimony. It is for the lady to do the courting. When she has brought her wooing to its hoped-for end; she fixes the day and bids her friends come and make merry with her. The feast finished, the guests bear the hostess to the river and give her a bath. Then a move is made for the happy man! Seeing the advancing procession, he pretends to hide," but soon suffers himself to be caught, carried to the river, and well dipped therein. The parents, setting up a dismal bawling, they will not part with their beloved son. There is a scramble, and they are overcome; a cock and a hen are sacrificed, and the pair are man and wife. So late as the seventeenth century it was customary in some parts of Ireland for the bridegroom's friends to receive those of the bride with a shower of darts, carefully directed so as to fall harmless; and Lord Raimes, who died in 1782, deposes that the marriage observances of the Welsh of the day weresignificantly symbolical of marriage by capture, the respective friends of the bride and groom meeting on horseback, the former refusing to deliver the lady on demand and bring about a sham conflict, during which the nearest kinsman of the bride, behind whom she is mounted, galloped away to be pursued J. Is composed of Herbit and Mucliagitions products, which permeate the substance of the Lungs, expectorates the acrid matter that calleds in the Bronchial Tubes, and forms a soothing conting, which relieves the irritation that causes the cough. It cleanses the lungs of all impurities, strengthens them when enfectied by disease, invigorates the circulation of the blood, and braces the nervous system. Slight colds often end in consumption. It is dangerous to neglect them. Apply the remedy promptly. A testof twenty years warrants the assertion that no remedy has ever been found that is as prompt in its effects as TUTT'S EXPECTORANT. A single dose raises the phiegm, subdues infimumation, and its use speedily cure the most obstinate cough. A plensant cordial, children take it readily. For Croup it is invaluable and should be in every family. In 25c. and $1 Bottles.

ACT DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER. Cures Chilis and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Hendache, Billous Colle, Constipation, Rheumatism, Files, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Torpid Liver, and Femnie Irregularities. If you do not "feel very well," a single pill stimulates the stomach, restores the appetite, imparts vigor to the system.

NOTED DIVINE SAYS: Dr. Tutt:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Consuprtion and Piles.—Last spring your pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, direction parfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid field. They are worth their weight in gold.

She manages the farm herself, giving every detail thereof her personal supervision. and in every undertaking she is financially successful. She frequently takes a trip to England, and will visit that country in the course of three or four weeks.

Death of S. W. Fisher. The sad news was brought to the city this morning that ex-Sheriff Samuel W. Fisher, died at his home in the town of Center, at twenty minutes past one o'clock this morning. It is well known by our citizens who were acquainted with him, that Mr. Fisher had been in illhealth for more than a year. Last spring he was attacked with paralysis, from which he did not fully recover. He improved somewhat, and during the fall and winter was able to be about, but there was some difficulty with the heart which caused him considerable annoyance. Medical treatment did not seem to avail anything, and gradually his disease became more complicated and at last claimed its victim. He did not take to his bed as he found more relief in sitting up or walking -The young sports of the city are en- about, and the day before he died he night the affection of the heart became more severe, and death resulted from a complication of that disease and bloodpoison; while the patient was sitting in his chair.

Mr. Fisher was born at East Fairfield Ohio, on the 13th of October, 1828, and came to Rock county in the of 1847, driving all the way from that state to Wisconsin in a sleigh. He settled in the town of Center, where by industry he had secured one of the best farms in the county. In the fall of 1874 he was elected sheriff of Rock county, and served with ability and faithfulness during his term. The funeral will take place at his home at ten o'clock on Sunday morning, and services will be held at the church at eleven o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Milton Wells, of West Virginia officiating. Mr. Fisher was one of the most honored citizens of the county, and his death in the prime of manhood will be deeply regretted.

WILLIAM OLARK.

Mr. William Clark, of the town of Harmony, died at his home yesterday afternoon, in the 87 year of his age. Mr. Clark came to Rock county and settled in the town of Harmony in the year 1858, from Aberdeenshire, Scotland, with his family. Mr. Clark was well known and highly respected by a large acquaintance in Rock county. The funeral will take at 11 o'clock a. m.

The Conference of Charities.

At the evening meeting of the conference of charities held in Madison on Wednesday, Mrs. Sarah F. C. Little, of Janesville, presided, in the absence of the president Colonel C.E. Warner, of Dane county. Excellent papers were road by Hon. L.  ${f A}_{f c}$ Proctor, en Schools for the Defective Classes, and by President W. D. Parker, of the River Falls normal school, on the Need of a School for Feeble Minded Children. These papers were written in an able manner, and there were most thorough discussions of the subjects touched upon. Thursday morning the conference reassembled, when officers were elected as follows, their terms being for the year 1883; President-Colonel C. E. Warner, of Dane county. :::

Vice Presidents-Hon. J. Q. Adams, of Columbia county; Rev. Norbert Kersten, of Brown county; Mrs. Sarah F. C. Litle, of Rock county...

Secretary-Prof. A. O. Wright, of Dane county. Treasurer-John Graham, of Colum bia county.

Among the standing committees appointed we find Superintendent M. M. Conant on the committee of chronic insane; Mrs. S. C. Little on schools for defective classes; Mrs. M. M. Conant on duties of matrons of poor houses; Dr. S. L. Lora on causes and prevention of insanity; and Mr. R. J. Burdge, on the relations of county boards to county instatutions.

Evo with the "Tourists." There was a fair sized audience at the opers house last night, to greet the "Tourists in the Pullman Car." Everybody who went there got more than the worth of their money in laughter. It is a three-act, nonsensical, musical play, with thinnest sort of a thread for a story, but it is all the better for that, as any attempt to give it a definite and well-laid plot would spoil it. We have not seen so much giggling. laughter and general merriment in the opera house since the appearance of the. Muldoon picnic party. But it was a beiter performance than that, as it is a cleaner cut piece of work, and has more wholesome fun about it. Mr. Mestayer is a good commedian, and when we say this of him we must direct the compliment to every member of the company. The specialties were good, the witticism bright, and the singing excellent. Much of the latter was infinitely better than we generally hear with such troupes on the road The representation of the interior of. the Pullman car is admirable, and all the incidents of railway travel are produced in a way that kept the andience in an uproar. In the third act, especially, when the births are down for night, fun began in dead carnest, and the laughter went on uncontrolled. Such performances merit crowded houses. They are a EAST MILWAUKEE ST. JANESVILLE (Opera House Block.) good thing for dyspeptics.
